Humane Officer Stanton Shot Horse Here Sunday.

On Sunday afternoon, in the lot belonging to the United States Fishery company, on North Main street, Humane Officer George H. Stanton shot a horse that belonged to A. Silberman of West Main street. The horse condition was such as to attract the sympathies of the people who saw the animal, and soon after a Greenville resident saw it he telephoned to the humane officer, who promptly responded.

Fishermen Outnumbered Fish.

About thirty-five people from Greenville spent the day Sunday fishing at the Navy Yard. There were many others there, from Norwich and nearby places, and the largest number of fish that was caught by any one person was five. Several caught four, and a few hauled in two or three butterfish, but the majority did not have very good success. At night, when the party returned home, there were more fishermen, it is reported, than there were fish.

The sum of $10,000 was appropriated for the state roads, and it was voted that this sum be spent on the road that leads to Hallville. The highways in the town are to be under the supervision of the selectmen during the coming year and are to be worked by them by day work and not by contract.

MORTALITY RECORD FOR

THE PAST MONTH.

Norwich Had 39 Deaths, Four Being in Public Institutions—Average Slightly Over That of the State.

By mortality reports received by the state board of health there were 1,416 deaths during the month of August. This was 219 less than in July and 76 less than in August of last year, and 130 less than the average number of deaths during August for the five years preceding.

The death rate was 15.3 for the large towns, for the small towns 17.2, and 16.7 for the whole state.

There were in Norwich 39 deaths, representing an annual death rate of 16.9 a thousand, eleven of the deaths being under five years. Death resulted from the following causes: Diphtheria 5, consumption 4, disease of the nervous system 3, heart disease 3, scarlet fever 2, accident or violence 2, typhoid fever and pneumonia 1 each, all others 1. There were four deaths in public institutions here.

There were no deaths in Bozrah, Franklin, Lisbon, Mansfield, Old Lyme, Salem and Sprague, while no report was received from Ledyard.

A number of infectious diseases were reported, Norwich having two of scarlet fever, seven of diphtheria or croup, three of typhoid fever, and four of consumption. During July there were 19 marriages and 58 births here.

In the past month New London had 26 deaths, Groton 11, Killingly 11, Plainfield 7, Putnam 5, Stonington 13, and Windham 14. There was one death in East Lyme, Montville and Sterling.

Medical Inspection of Schools.

In the report of the secretary of the state board of health, Dr. J. H. Townsend has a statement regarding the medical inspection of schools as follows:

Under the Connecticut law the boards of education and school committees in the several towns of the state may appoint physicians to act as school inspectors. This law was much better if it were mandatory, as in the state of Massachusetts, rather than permissive. Medical inspection of schools is a movement of recent growth, although by means in its infancy and long ago passed the experimental stage. European countries have had it for many years, and in the United States the first regular system of inspection began in Boston in 1894. Although the Connecticut law gives to school committees the authority to appoint medical inspectors, the work in this state has been very generally started and carried on by the boards of health and health officers, so that at the present time all our larger cities have regularly appointed inspectors, and in many of the smaller places the work is carried on as part of the duties of the health officer. This is so, because health officials could not avoid recognizing the fact that the school has become the most certain center of infection in the community and medical inspection has grown up for the purpose of detecting cases of contagious diseases and segregating such cases for the protection of other children. Whenever established, good results have been evidenced. Epidemics have been checked or avoided and improvement has been noted in the cleanliness and neatness of the children.

But medical inspection does not stop here; other problems have forced themselves on the attention of the inspectors. Pupils have been unable to keep up with their classes, being termed "backward" or "retarded." Inquiries and physical examinations of these cases by school doctors have revealed a surprising number of children who through defective eyesight, hearing and other causes have been seriously handicapped in their school work. Thus, medical inspection has been developed not only for the detection of contagious diseases but also for the detection of physical defects.

Taftville, Murphy and White, and for Baltic, Stefan and Morrisette.

Runaway Accident.

Sunday afternoon, while returning from Occum was a horse driven by Napoleon Benoit of Merchants avenue became frightened at a passing trolley and started to run away. Just as the team was rounding the curve by the Congregational church, however, the horse collected with a jerk and there was a general smashup. The open buggy which the horse was hitched to, was damaged considerably. The horse fled himself from the team and kept on running, but was finally caught on Providence street. Mr. Benoit escaped unhurt, but his little boy, who was with him, received a few bruises and was considerably shaken up.

Attended Dance in Baltic.

A large party of young folks from this place went to Baltic Saturday night to attend the dance given by the Baltic Athletic club in Shannon hall. The party returned at a late hour and everyone reported a splendid time. Among those who went from Taftville were John Laffeur, John McSheffrey, Daniel McSheffrey, Jr., Alec Davignon, Eugene Lambert, George Barlow, Charles McSheffrey, Fred Stone, Edward Murphy and William Delaney.

that leads to Hallville. The highways in the town are to be under the supervision of the selectmen during the coming year and are to be worked by them by day work and not by contract.

The tax collector had recommended in his report the abatement of taxes for a certain few in the town, and these recommendations were acted upon and the taxes were abated by a vote of the meeting. The consideration of the several town officers was considered and it was finally decided to allow them to remain the same as they were last year. A considerable discussion took place regarding the amount of tax to be laid, and sixteen mills was finally agreed upon. The meeting was then adjourned.

gious disease, but for discovering defects which interfere with the child's ability to do his school work, which, if neglected, will seriously affect his physical efficiency in after life.

The importance of this work can not be too strongly urged. Communities which have not yet taken it up. Every medical inspector and others interested in the subject should procure a copy of the book published by the Russell Sage Foundation on the Medical Inspection of Schools, which can be secured at a small cost (one dollar) of the Charities Publication Committee, New York.

REVENUE SCHOOL

Will Be Big Thing.

To Be Opened Soon at Fort Trumbull, New London.

Work on the buildings at Fort Trumbull to prepare them for the occupancy of the revenue cutter school will begin very soon. The contract for the lumber required for the work has been let.

The cadets on the revenue service training ship Itasca have been granted a three weeks' leave of absence in which to visit their homes. This is their first leave since sailing abroad on the training ship a year ago. They all expect the chance to go home and to see their parents and friends.

Upon their return the school will be opened. Captain Jacobs of the Itasca will be in charge of the school. Few seem to yet realize what a big thing the location of the school will be for New London.

At the outset it will mean the location there for the majority of the year of 50 cadets and ten officers, and their families, and in addition a number of sailors who will have duties about the school.

A large amount of supplies will be necessary and merchants will profit as a result. In addition to the commercial advantage, the presence of the school will give New London added prestige.
